Dr. Kaminski, you have my word that:

- I wrote this application/code myself (in accordance with the guidelines in the course policies of what's considered acceptable). Any code (longer than several lines) used here which was created by someone else or written jointly with someone else 1) is clearly attributed and 2) is listed below.
- The program code attached did actually produce the data files which are attached.
- There was no editing of the data files after the program produced them (except such things as font size, page-orientation).
